Article 4: Monthly premiums

The Hello4You package is free.

Article 5: End of membership

Without prejudice to the provisions of the General Banking Terms and Conditions, membership can be brought to an end as follows:

- at the request of the holder(s): by simply notifying the branch or the Hello Team, the holder(s) may, at any time, bring an end to their membership of Hello4You;
- on the bank's initiative: if the terms and conditions relating to the holder(s) and to the reference account (Arts. 1.2 and 1.3) are no longer being met, the holder(s) automatically loses (lose) their entitlement to the specific charging conditions of the Hello4You package.

When the holder(s) reaches (reach) the age of 28, the Hello4You package automatically converts to the most suitable bank package, taking account of the habits in using the banking channels made available to the holder(s). The holder(s) shall be informed of this bank package at least two months before the day of their 28th birthday, on the understanding that they shall have the option, during this period, to opt for a package other than the package offered by the Bank.

In the case of joint account holders, the conversion will take place when the youngest account holder turns 28.

If private use of the reference account is replaced with professional use (on the initiative of the holder(s)), this account shall however convert automatically to professional accounts (provided that the terms and conditions of acceptance are met).

At the end of membership, all financial services are maintained (barring an express request from the holder(s) and the terms and conditions for ordinary customers (or professional customers, see previous paragraph) apply (these conditions are available in branch or from the Hello Team).
